

Special graduates

Audrey and Don Blane held a graduation at their home in celebration of the accomplishments made by their seven-year-old twin autistic boys, Michael and Kevin. Both born with severe autism, they lacked the ability to communicate or socially interact. Through the home based program, I.M.T.I. (Intensive Multi-treatment Intervention program) the boys have made huge strides. Jonathan Alderson, founder of the program, has been working with the boys and was one of the many guests at the graduation ceremony.

JUDEE RICHARDSON SCHOFIELD, SPECIAL TO THE TIMES